The fine arts program offers a variety of courses in music. All students interested in participating in any music ensemble should complete a music questionnaire and return to the Fine Arts Coordinator. Lecture courses include music appreciation, music theory I and II, music history and literature I and II and several other options for fine arts classes. Applied music courses are also available for students to enroll for private lessons in piano, voice, guitar, or a symphonic instrument on beginner/intermediate/advanced level.

Westminster offers a music minor program and a variety of self-designed majors involving music. Students interested in a music minor or other music programs should contact the Fine Arts Coordinator. Students may enroll for one or two credit hours in any choral or instrumental performance media during the fall and spring semesters. Courses in choral or instrumental groups and applied private instruction may be repeated for credit.
